

of the local concrete and construction industry, which is in line with our mission of inclusivity towards a First-World Philippines," Markus Hennig, Megawide Executive Vice President, said.

Megawide has consistently introduced new innovations to Philippine engineering. The Company was the first to use proprietary German formworks systems and precast technology from Japan in its early high-rise projects, making it into a leading player among Philippine

CAPTION: The Megawide mobile concrete batching plant in Apalit, Pampanga, built to supply concrete for the Malolos-Clark Railway Project Package 1